- ___ If interested, reached out to the UCCS iBuddy Program by appropriate deadlines.

Immigration and Visa Information

Applying for a Student Visa

Applying for a visa can be very time consuming; thus it's important to apply as soon as possible. However, you may not apply for a student visa more than 120-days in advance of your program start date (as noted on item #5 of your I-20) at University of Colorado Colorado Springs (UCCS). (Information on the visa application process is available at: http://travel.state.gov/visa/temp/types/types_1268.html).

To obtain a visa, you must first pay the SEVP/SEVIS I-901 fee, which you can pay online. You need your I-20 or DS-2019 to pay the fee and begin the visa application process.

*Canadian Citizens do not need visas to study in the U.S. You do need to obtain an I-20 (or DS-2019) Certificate of Eligibility from the university that you plan to attend. At the time you receive the I-20 (or DS-2019) you will be registered with SEVIS, the student tracking system. You will be assigned a SEVIS number, and be required to pay the SEVIS I-901 fee.

Additional information on the SEVIS fee payment and visa application process is available at Study in the States. Useful Websites:

- I-901 SEVP/SEVIS Fee \(https://www.ice.gov/sevis/i901\)

Preparing for the Consulate Interview

Advance preparation for your visa interview with a US consulate officer will help you overcome some of the nervousness/anxiety surrounding this process. In general, the consulate officer wants to confirm three things: 1) you have a legitimate reason to study in the United States, 2) you have the financial ability to pay for your education and support yourself while in the U.S., and 3) you intend to return to your home country upon completion of your studies. You should be prepared to answer the following types of questions:

Questions asked to verify your intent as a legitimate student:

- Why do you want to study in the U.S.?
- Why do you want to study at University of Colorado Colorado Springs?
- What are the job opportunities in your country for your field of study?

Verifying your finances:

Typically, you will be asked to show proof of your ability to pay for your studies in the United States.

Questions asked to determine your intent to return home after your studies:

- Do you have family in your home country?
- ... What do they do?
- What do you intend to do once you complete your studies?
- What types of jobs will be available for you once you return home?

Immigration Regulations:

General Information

While studying in the United States, it is important to properly and carefully maintain your legal F or J student immigration status. Your status relates to the purpose, or reason for why you want to come to the United States. The U.S. Department of State issues you your visa based on your intended purpose.

Information for UCCS F-1 Visa Students

Students with F-1 or J-1 visa status based on documentation from UCCS should read the following information carefully and be aware of their responsibility for understanding it. Any questions about any of this information should be directed to your international student advisor in the International Affairs Office, international@uccs.edu.

Full-Time Status for Legal Purposes

Each fall and spring semester you are required by regulation/law to be a full-time student. This is also true in summer sessions if the summer is your first, or final, semester. For undergraduate students at UCCS, this means taking at least 12 credit hours per semester. For graduate students this means taking at least 5 credit hours per semester. You also need to progress normally in your degree program according to the length of time given on your I-20, which may mean that you'll need more than the minimum number of credits in some or all semesters. Any exception to the full-time status rule must be applied for and approved by your international student advisor in the International Affairs Office in advance, or it is a violation of the F-1 or J-1 regulations.

Leaving and Re-entering the United States

If you are planning to depart from the United States temporarily, you should contact the International Affairs Office at least two weeks in advance of your departure in order to receive the appropriate advice and documents, such as a new Form I-20 or endorsement of your I-20 for re-entry into the United States. Note: When you re-enter you must present a current and properly endorsed (signatures on pages 1 and 3) I-20, a valid F-1 visa and your passport.

Employment On-Campus

F-1 students are eligible to work on-campus. When school is in session, F-1 student on-campus employment is limited to 20-hours per week (part-time) and it must be concurrent with full-time studies. During school vacations, F-1 student on-campus employment is limited to 40-hours per week (full-time), although UCCS policy does not allow any students to work up to 40 hours. In the process of arranging for an on-campus job you may need to visit the International Affairs Office for confirmation of your eligibility to be employed.

Arrival Information

Please plan to arrive to Colorado Springs on Wednesday or Thursday, January 13th or the 14th. Please email international@uccs.edu if you need information about getting to UCCS campus. The International Welcome and Orientation Week (iWOW) will begin on Friday, January 15th and will be immediately followed by a wide range of activities to help new international students adjust to their new life in the U.S. and at UCCS. Classes begin on Monday, January 19th, 2021. A complete calendar for the academic year is located at: <http://www.uccs.edu/academics/calendar.html>.

Getting to Colorado Springs

By Plane to Colorado Springs: If you will be flying to Colorado, we recommend that you fly directly into Colorado Springs. Please email international@uccs.edu if you need information about getting to UCCS campus. For your general information, the Yellow Cab Company operates a taxi service from the airport. It costs about $35 one way (not including tip) to UCCS. The phone number for the Yellow Cab Company is (719) 777-7777.

By Plane to Denver: If you will be arriving in Denver and cannot take a flight to Colorado Springs, you may take a bus (coach) for the approximately 110-kilometer ride from Denver to Colorado Springs. This can be difficult if you have a lot of luggage, so we strongly encourage you to fly into Colorado Springs.

By Bus from Denver International Airport: <https://www.visitcos.com/directory/groome-transportation/> Groome—a shuttle service that departs from Denver International Airport to Colorado Springs. Services are based on reservations, and the fare is roughly $50. The Shuttle last stop is at the Academy Hotel, which is located 10 minute from campus. (From there Lyft, Uber, or taxi)

By Bus from Denver: If you decide to take the bus (coach) from downtown Denver to downtown Colorado Springs, you will need to take a taxi (about $40) or public bus (RTD...about $10) from the Denver International Airport to the downtown Denver Greyhound/TNM&O Bus Station (about a half hour ride). The bus ride from Denver to Colorado Springs takes approximately two hours and the cost is $17.00 one way (depending on the time of day). Visit <http://www.greyhound.com> for departure times and more information.

- <http://www.rtd-denver.com/> (The Regional Transportation District; Bus Services from Denver International Airport to downtown Denver)
- <https://ridebustang.com/> Bustang are transportation buses that take you from Denver to Colorado Springs. Fares ($12 single ride) are listed on the website as well as schedules and routes.

Preparing for your UCCS Journey

What to Bring?

Two of the biggest concerns for any college student are what to bring and what not to bring. When packing, please consider the following recommendations of past students:

For Your Room:

The university housing office does not provide free linen service (sheets, blankets and towels) for new students. However, there will be a shopping trip arranged for UCCS international students to buy linens.

Clothing:

Be aware that Colorado weather varies greatly from summer to winter. You should pack shorts for nice weather, and heavy sweaters for the colder months.

A note on computers:

University of Colorado Colorado Springs provides the use of computer equipment free of charge. Computers are available in the Kraemer Family Library. If you already own a laptop, you will probably want to bring it with you. If you wish to purchase a laptop you may want to wait until you arrive on campus. You will have opportunities to buy a laptop during the shopping trips during International Welcome Week.

COVID-19 Information. What to know?

Stay informed by visiting the UCCS COVID-19 information link. <https://covid19.uccs.edu/>

On that link you will find the UCCS Campus Access page where you will locate:

- Campus Access Training
- Wellness Check Test (this has to be done daily)
- COVID-19- ready dashboard

Please note: These all must be reviewed before coming to UCCS campus.

When on campus: wear a mask, and abide by social distancing guidelines (6 ft. apart). Please refer to the CDC updated guidelines here.

Health Insurance

Health insurance is not mandatory for all students!

You may use your own insurance from home, providing proof of such insurance when you arrive on campus or purchase U.S. based insurance upon your arrival. UCCS does not have international insurance. The approximate cost for insurance for one year is $2,000

It is important that you complete the Certificate of Immunization for College/University Students, Measles Certificate and Meningococcal vaccination if you are living on campus.

Please email wellness@uccs.edu if you have any questions.

Finances

Money and Banking

Before you leave home, check with your local bank to learn more about your country's regulations regarding the transfer of funds overseas. Some countries do not allow for large sums of money to be wired abroad, whereas other countries have no limits. The following figures can give you an estimate of how much your year at the University of Colorado Colorado Springs will be:

2019-2021 I-20 Figure
Undergraduate	Est. 2019-2020	Est. 2020-2021
Tuition and Fee	$26,160.90	$26,208.84
Living Expenses	$12,600	$12,600
Total Cost for the Year	$38,760.90	$38,808.84
Graduate	Est. 2019-2020	Est. 2020-2021
Tuition and Fee	$24,123.80	$24,606.28
Living Expenses	$12,600	$12,600
Total Cost for the Year	$36,723.80	$37,206.80

You may want to consider opening a bank account once you arrive in Colorado Springs. There are many different types of accounts in the United States and it can be confusing to know which type of account to open. More information on banking will be covered in the International Student Orientation, but if you wish to look into opening an account before you arrive, these are a few banks located close to campus:

- Chase Bank
 - 4190 Austin Bluffs Parkway
(719) 227-6315
- ENT Federal Credit Union

- UCCS University Center
(719) 574-1100
- Wells Fargo Bank
 - 560 Garden of the Gods Road
(719) 528-4515
- Note: To open an account, you will need a local address, passport, visa, I-20 or DS-2019, and admissions letter.

Paying for Your Tuition and Fees

You can pay your bill after your arrival on campus via your UCCS student portal. We offer different options for you to set up a payment method. A workshop on how to pay your bill will be hosted during the International Student Welcome Week and Check-in.

If you have any questions regarding your bill or making a payment, please contact the Student Financial Services Bursar Office at: bursar@uccs.edu.

Cultural Adjustment

(Adapted from NAFSA's International Student Handbook – A Guide to University Study in the USA, Washington D.C.: NAFSA: Association of International Educators.)

Being immersed in a different culture is a wonderful opportunity for growth! You will learn how to improve communication cross-culturally and become more appreciative of other cultures as well as your own. Living abroad is a fun and very rewarding experience. As you learn, you might make mistakes. Our advice for now: don't worry, relax, keep your humor and be informed of the adjustment process.

Emerging Differences

As you become more involved in activities and gradually get to know the people around you, differences might become increasingly apparent to you. Over time, these differences may seem more irritating than interesting or quaint. Small incidents and difficulties may make you anxious and concerned about how best to carry on with academic and social life. As these differences emerge, they can be troubling and sometimes shocking. This emotional state is called "culture shock." Culture shock does not happen all at once. It is a feeling that grows little by little as you interact with other students, faculty, and people in the community.

Coping with Culture Shock

Students are sometimes unaware of the fact that they are experiencing culture shock. There are ways to deal with this period of culture shock. Learning about culture shock before you arrive in the USA will help ease this experience. The most effective way to combat culture shock is to step back from a given event that has bothered you, assess it, and search for an appropriate explanation and response.

Below are strategies you can use to ease the adjustment process:

- Settle into your living space as much as possible. Put up pictures of your family, listen to music you enjoy, and try to get settled as quickly as possible.
- Get involved. Join a student organization, play a sport, perform community service, or anything else you enjoy doing. These activities will help you make friends and take your mind off your homesickness.
- Establish a routine. Try to keep regular eating and sleeping habits, and to do at least one activity you look forward to on a regular basis at the same time each week.
- Be physically active. This can improve your mental and physical health. Many CC students find that participation in outdoor activities – hiking, biking, jogging, mountain climbing – can be an especially good way to get exercise, relieve stress and enjoy the beauty of Colorado.
- Talk to other international students. While international students who've been here some time may seem very happy and well-adjusted, it probably wasn't easy for them in the beginning, either. Ask them what they did that helped the most.

Although it can be disconcerting and a little scary, the “shock” gradually eases as you begin to understand the new culture. It is useful to realize that often the reactions and perceptions of others toward you - and you toward them - are not personal evaluations but are based on a clash of cultural values. The more skilled you become in recognizing how and when cultural values and behaviors are likely to come in conflict, the easier it becomes to make adjustments that can help you avoid serious difficulties.

Culture shock is felt differently by different people; however, many international students experience it in the following stages:

Euphoria – The first few hours, days or weeks abroad are often characterized by feelings of excitement and elation. Everything seems new and interesting. You can't believe you're finally here!

Irritability and Hostility – Once the initial “honeymoon” phase subsides, differences between your own culture and the U.S. begin to seem more pronounced, and a sense of alienation can set in. Everything seems so different and there are so many challenges to cope with. This stage is often characterized by feelings of frustration, insecurity, withdrawal and depression.

Gradual Adjustment – With time, you'll begin to orient yourself to a different set of cultural practices and feel increasingly comfortable and confident in your new surroundings. Your sense of humor, which may have been lying dormant for a while, will reemerge.

Reentry or Reverse Culture Shock – Upon returning home, you will be faced with integrating your life in the U.S. with your life at home. You may feel disoriented, out of place or changed by your experience in a way that makes relating to family and friends difficult.

Living in Colorado Springs

General Information about Colorado and Colorado Springs

Located in the foothills of Pikes Peak, one of the most spectacular mountains in the U.S., Colorado Springs is a haven for outdoor activities including hiking, skiing, white water rafting, biking, etc. The four seasons are very distinguishable here in Colorado Springs with the average temperature being 62.1F in summer and the average temperature in the winter being 35.8F. Colorado Springs, a mid-sized city of 500,000-plus residents, is small enough to still be friendly, but large enough to attract nationally known performers, speakers, and events. And, plenty of outdoor activities all year long.

Things To Do in Colorado Springs

There are many options for recreation in Colorado Springs and the surrounding areas. The Colorado Springs Visitor's Bureau has current event information as well as discounts for area businesses. Visit <http://www.visitcos.com/> for more information.

Things To Do in the State of Colorado

Colorado is packed full of things to do year-round. There are many family attractions, national parks, and outdoor adventures to choose from. Please visit the Colorado Official Visitors Web Site at <http://www.colorado.com/> for more information.

UCCS Campus Transportation

Shuttle service departs the lot every ten minutes en route to the Centennial Hall building in the center of campus. The shuttle also makes trips from University Hall, Sunset Village, Alpine Village, and The Lodges to Centennial Hall. To view more information about the shuttle schedules for the semester, you will receive a shuttle bus schedule in your welcome package upon check in at our International Welcome Week and Check-in event.

City Bus The College Pass program gives college students the opportunity to use this transportation to access downtown Colorado Springs, local attractions and shopping. What you'll need is your student ID card, in order to swipe and board the bus. Bus routes and schedules can be viewed here: <https://www.uccs.edu/pts/city-bus>

Parking on campus is limited. Students wishing to park on campus need to purchase a parking pass from UCCS Parking and Transportation Services. You can choose from a variety of different parking passes. Students may also choose to park for free at the Four Diamonds Sports Complex, located on north Nevada Avenue, between the hours of 7:00 am and 11:00 pm, Monday -Friday when classes are in session.

Biking is also a great option to get around on campus. Various dedicated bike routes exist around the city of Colorado Springs. A printed version of the UCCS Commuter Cycling Map is available at the University Center and at the Department of Public Safety located in on the 2nd floor of the UCCS Parking Garage. You can find a copy of the bicycle route map online through UCCS Sustainable Transportation.

Additionally, the university has several bike racks located outside of campus buildings for securing your bike. All campus shuttles and the Colorado Springs' Mountain Metro Transit buses are equipped with bicycle racks. Do note that bikes are not permitted inside any university buildings, nor are bicycles to be locked to features (such as fences, light posts, signs, etc.) other than designated bicycle racks.

Don't have a bike? Does your bike need a tune-up? Located in the Student Outdoor Leadership Experience (S.O.L.E) Office in the campus Recreation Center, the UCCS Bike Share Program offers free bikes to rent for UCCS students, faculty and staff. Bikes are available for on or off campus use. In addition to the bike rental service, you may also receive assistance with bike maintenance and tune-ups at the Bike Shop. For more information, visit the SOLE website.

Manage membership, create calendars, communicate via e-mail and text, fill out required forms, store files, connect your organization with service opportunities, and even track individual leadership experiences through Mountain Lion Connect. To log on, go to Mountain Lion Connect website and enter your UCCS username and password.

Student Government

The UCCS Student Government Association (SGA) is composed of student-elected undergraduate and graduate student leaders. SGA works to investigate and resolve common student concerns, advocate for the inclusion of students in the overall policy and decision-making process of the university, promote awareness of the students' decision-making roll in the academic community, enhance the quality and scope of education both inside and outside of the classroom, and empower students with leadership and management opportunities. For more information on SGA or to find out about how to run for an office, visit the SGA website.
